

limbic|learning

Not all e-learning suppliers are alike...

... say hello to LIMBIC.

Rather than operating as a traditional e-learning provider LIMBIC's small team specialise in the core competences required to create and deliver great learning solutions.

Our approach is akin to an architectural practice, only in this case the specialists are Learning Architects - each of whom has been designing and delivering solutions since the 1990s to the world's largest organisations.

By maintaining only the core competences inside LIMBIC it allows us to operate flexibly with third parties to ensure that we always deliver the best results at the most competitive price for our clients.

We specialise in the areas that matter most in e-learning:

- E-learning courseware design and development
- Learning consultancy
- 'On demand' instructional design and project management services - ideal when you require a part service
- Workshops in blended learning, instructional design and project management

Why LIMBIC?

Simple: you always engage with your own Learning Architect, someone who combines unbeatable knowledge with exceptional service.

- Your Learning Architect is an experienced consultant, instructional designer and project manager
- Your Learning Architect acts as an adviser and partner to ensure your success
- Your Learning Architect knows learning, knows technology, and knows business
- Your Learning Architect will get to know your learners, essential for a solution to meet their needs
- Your Learning Architect will take accountability of a project from start to finish and work with a number of professionals
- Your Learning Architect can work on small individual projects, or on large complex programmes, taking responsibility for one element or the entire solution

To maximise your budget and energise your e-learning to support your organisation's learning future contact us today on 01273 634559, or email info@limbiclearning.co.uk and we'll get right back to you.

Who we are

- small: a group of Learning Architects intent of delivering outstanding solutions and services to clients
- highly capable: each Learning Architect has well in excess of 10 years' frontline experience in e-learning
- independent: free to recommend technology or traditional solutions

Who we aren't

- a large e-learning production house
- a multimedia or a programming company
- just another company 'doing e-learning'

limbic|services